No further increase seen for Randall tax

No general tax increase is expected to be imposed on Randall County residents for the coming year even though rural residents will experience a tax hike.

County commissioners are scheduled to set the tax ratio and rates for 1974 during their regular session beginning at 1 p.m. Monday.

Judge Woody Pond said he does not anticipate taxes will be raised by commissioners.

"As far as I know, I think they'll be the same," he said. "I don't anticipate any change."

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, local tax assessor-collector, is to appear before commissioners to discuss her projection of income for 1974. Following her prediction of income, commissioners will set the rate and ratio for the year.

Historical data indicates the county 100 per cent valuation of property has increased between $3 million and $5 million each year.

In 1973, the total valuation of property was $67,359,500, which produced assessed valuation of $685,988. The 1973 total was about $3.5 million more than the total in 1972.

Commissioners have not changed ad valorem taxes since the late 1960s, when they decreased the tax rate for county residents.

In other business scheduled for Monday, commissioners are expected to review the outside annual audit report from Bill Francis of the Amarillo accounting firm of Doshier, Pickens and Francis.

The audit of the 1973 fiscal year indicates the county commissioners again spent more than they took in in tax monies.

Commissioners spent nearly $150,000 more than they took in during the year according to the audit.

The report indicates the county took in $1,194,743 through ad valorem taxes and fees and fines, but spent $1,327,449. The totals do not include federal revenue sharing funds.

Preliminary figures indicate the county has an unencumbered balance of less than $200,000.

County commissioners are also expected to hear from Marshall Rockwell, a rural resident, concerning their recent actions hiking rural taxes.

Commissioners two weeks ago hiked rural taxes to raise about $26,000 in additional monies, ostensibly to help finance rural fire calls and county road maintenance.

The hike, alleged to be illegal under the Texas Constitution and Texas civil statutes, raised rural property-owners' taxes to the level now paid by city dwellers.

While County Judge Pond indicated last week he had a plan in mind to correct the possibly illegal nature of the tax structure, he did not bring his plan forward during Monday's commissioners court session and no item is on the agenda for this Monday's session for discussion of a revision of the system.

Law officials here not worried about check scheme's spread

A scheme which has allegedly netted two jailed men more than $100,000 in the last two months doesn't have local law enforcement officials worried here.

The scheme, called check kiting, is a simple form of theft which the two accuseds allegedly used to bilk banks in New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma out of thousands of dollars.

Dist. Atty. George Dowlen said the scheme is in widespread use throughout the country and is very hard to detect until the damage is done in towns with large banks.

In Canyon, the quick action of bankers has caught the two alleged check kiting artists, even after the two had put their scheme into operation in much larger cities including Dallas and Albuquerque.

Dowlen, who said the scheme is so simple it would not be to his advantage to divulge its exact operation, said basically the scheme involves the opening of a checking account at a bank and then the writing of large checks on the account.

In most banking operations, he said, the scheme can go undetected for days and in the meantime the perpetrator can be out-of-town and already practicing the scheme at some other bank.

One man recently arrested by sheriff's deputies told Deputy Recil Johnson the scheme had netted him close to $70,000 as he hit banks across the Southwest.

Warrants were pending on him from New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas cities.

The quick thinking of a teller at the West Texas State Bank caught the plot and put an end to the alleged career of the man.

"The banks in Canyon are so alert to this scheme that they have twice in the last two months caught two people who've been wanted in several other states," Dowlen said. "The men had done this over and over again on a professional basis, but when they tried it in Canyon they were arrested."

Dowlen said he doubts Canyon banks will be very much bothered any more by check kiters.

"Word gets around these fellows to a certain extent," Dowlen said.

If caught, a check kiter is subject upon conviction to a prison term of between two and 10 years.

David Levens, president of Canyon West Texas State Bank, said banks cannot build in safeguards against check kiting, but experienced personnel can catch check kiters if they're alert.

He said the key to a catch is "to have good qualified people who smell a rat."

Levens said the problem points up a major fault with the proposed branch banking system for Texans. With branch banking, he said, check kiting would be a much easier process.

He said the usual check kiter is "too smooth.

"They know our operation better than we do. That puts us more on alert than nervousness."

City to open new city hall bids; fear high construction costs

Canyon city commissioners will open bids for construction of a new city hall during a special session at 2 p.m. Wednesday and they're still nervous about what the bids will mean.

A half dozen construction firms have apparently purchased plans and specifications for the job, but not all are expected to bid on the project.

City commissioners began worrying about the cost of their building after county commissioners last week opened bids for construction of a new South Amarillo courthouse annex and found the bids to be twice as high as cost estimates by their architect.

County commissioners had expected to pay a little over $300,000 to build the 15,000 square foot annex. Bids ranged from just below $650,000 to nearly $660,000.

City commissioners have planned to spend about $37 per square foot for construction of the new city hall. But, the Randall County bids came in at about $54 per square foot.

City Manager George Loudder said Friday he had again talked with the city's architectural firm, which has been providing periodical cost estimates, and they stick by a figure just above $1,300,000.

Commissioners have voted to issue certificates of obligation totalling $1.4 million to cover construction costs. And, they have pledged not to enter into a long-term bonded indebtedness program to pay off the building.

The building itself will cost about $1.2 million according to cost estimates from the architect. Other fees will bring the total to more than $1.3 million.

The new city hall is to include 37,500 square feet, but a majority of the floor space will be involved in stalls for fire department use.

The building will house a fire department, police department, library and city administrative offices. It is planned to have two floors.

County commissioners are to regroup this week to take another look at the bid prices for construction of their new annex. Architect Art Vaughan was instructed last week to take the low bid and make a cost study to see where costs might be cut.

He is to report back with a recommendation this week.

City commissioners will not award a contract on Wednesday, but will await a technical report from their architects before signing papers later in the month.

Hightower says alter law to stop Heatly charters

If state law allows legislator-delegates to charter airplanes to fly them to their homes from the constitutional convention in Austin, then the law needs to be changed, State Sen. Jack Hightower said Friday on a swing through Canyon.

Hightower, veteran Texas legislator now seeking election as U.S. Representative of the 13th Congressional District, is chairman of the convention administration committee which rules on repayment of travel expenses for delegates.

He told The News that the convention pay commission, which is made up of several of the top state officials, could also solve the problem involving State Rep. Bill Heatly of Paducah by changing a resolution allowing travel reimbursements.

Convention officials charged recently that Heatly has spent more than $2000 in state tax money to charter airplane flights from Austin to his hometown and back.

Hightower admitted Friday the pay commission left a loophole in their resolution authorizing pay for travel expenses. Heatly in an Amarillo media story cited state law and an attorney general's ruling to prove that his charter flights were legal.

The pay commission resolution authorizing reimbursement cites the same regulations for travel expenses as that used in state statute. The state law allows reimbursement for charter flights.

Hightower, who lives in Vernon, just 60 miles from Paducah, said he flies home by standard airline as far as Wichita Falls and then drives about 50 miles to his hometown. He said it would be about an additional 50 mile drive to get to Paducah from Vernon.

Turning to his bid as Democratic candidate for the post now held by Congressman Bob Price of Pampa, Hightower said all other issues will be overshadowed in November by the state of the economy.

He said he feels the Watergate controversy along with the proceedings concerning possible impeachment of the President will not impact on local congressional races.

Impeachment of the President "shouldn't be an issue," he said, because the impeachment proceedings are judicial and not political in nature.

Hightower said everyone across the country, not just Texas cattlemen, are being hurt by skyrocketing inflation.

While he said the recent damage to the cattle industry has been "disastrous," Hightower said everyone is hurt by the inflationary trends.

His solution? Cut federal spending and balance the peacetime budget.

To do so, Hightower said, the government would have to reduce expenditures. But, he's not sure which areas could be cut.

"We don't know what kind of commitments or costs the President made in the Middle East," he said. "Just this week we forgave a tremendous debt to Israel. Those were our tax dollars."

In addition, he said, Americans have not been told what the commitments entail on giving Egypt and Israel nuclear reactors.

"We know we gave them (the Arabs) a large sum of money to clean up the Suez Canal at a time when we're paying them more for Arab oil," he said.

In fact Hightower questioned the whole policy of summit diplomacy as practiced most recently by Nixon on his trip to the Soviet Union.

"I would hope his trip was not political, but news accounts are saying nothing was accomplished," he said. "If nothing was to be accomplished, then he shouldn't have gone."

Hightower said Nixon must have had a definite idea of what he could and could not accomplish in the Soviet Union last week before he made the trip.

While Hightower said certain items could probably be cut from the federal budget, he said he would not advocate placing the U.S. in a compromising military position just to balance the budget.

Maize crop hot

Rain helps some, but more needed

With Canyon centered in an area the U.S. Weather Service says is experiencing a moderate drouth, local farmers, nurturing a young grain sorghum crop, are still hoping for more rains this summer than they had last spring.

Spring dryness levelled an anticipated wheat crop. Harvest is finished.

"It was about as everybody had predicted," said County Agent John Brazzil. "It was a very short crop. Just a year when it just wasn't there."

The crop, attacked initially by greenbugs and later decimated by drouth, was no crop at all for many farmers in the county, farmers who are now looking to the fledgling sorghum crop for the difference.

Brazzil said despite the dry weather, the sorghum crop is up in most areas and is progressing on schedule.

A late week rain last week helped the outlook for the crop at least temporarily. Many areas of Canyon received just under an inch while some outlying areas of the county reported heavier rains from an early Thursday storm.

Brazzil said the U.S. Weather Service has proclaimed the Texas Panhandle to south of Lubbock and much of New Mexico and Arizona as undergoing moderate drouth conditions.

The effects of the dry conditions for local farmers is not fully known yet. Officials at the Canyon office of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service have not yet tallied figures for wheat abandonment in the county.

Under a federal act passed in 1973, farmers can abandon part or all of their 1974 crops and be eligible for small government payments. The system replaces the old set-aside system due to a governmental attitude of full production.

Don Lloyd, head of the ASCS office, earlier in the spring said most of the Randall County working farms were affected to an extent by the drouth and most had some wheat abandonment.

Many farmers waited until harvest to abandon crops.

Lloyd said final figures on the number of acres abandoned due to the drouth will not be known until following sorghum harvest in late fall.

He said the disaster relief payments are made on the year's crops together.

Brazzil said many areas to the south of Lubbock have been hit harder by the dryness than have areas in the northern part of the Panhandle.

John, Randy Thomas learn tough farming lesson

John and Randy Thomas began farming last year and made a bumper wheat crop. This year, they'd just as soon not talk about it.

Last summer, John and Randy put money in the bank, bought a new 10-speed bicycle and a new set of drums. This year they face the prospect of having to borrow money just to be able to plant next fall.

John, 12, and Randy, 13, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Thomas who live northeast of Canyon, farmed their own 12 acres for the first time last spring. Their second year in the business was a total loss.

The boys for two years now have been plowing and caring for a 12-acre plot their father farmed when he was a boy growing up in Randall County.

In 1973, the boys began their farming experience with a bang. They plowed, planted and waited and the rains did the rest. In the early summer they harvested a crop which tallied out at about 40 bushels per acre.

This year, the boys went through the same motions, planting and plowing and watching and waiting. But the rains did them no favors and what had begun as high hopes turned into disappointment as harvest time drew nearer.

The boys harvested nothing, not even enough to use for seed for next year's planting.

"They were very disappointed," Mrs. Thomas said of her sons.

But, she said, the weather indicated early in the crop year to the boys that their 1974 crop was destined not to be as the crop had been in 1973.

"They didn't have the expectations from the beginning," she said. "They got that feeling when the wheat didn't do like it did before."

Rather than harvesting, John and Randy got their first taste of futility. They had to plow up their wheat crop.

While the boys made enough money in 1973 to put funds in the bank, pay their debts and still make a few purchases, this year they didn't make enough to pay for fuel, seed or their time.

"Well, there's always next year," she quoted them as saying.

For next year's planting, the boys will have to borrow funds from their dad to put in a crop.

Our World

Standards Needed

By ANN BROWN

Jenkin Lloyd Jones, in an editorial entitled, "The Issue in Degeneracy" said: "Great civilizations and animal standards of behavior co-exist only for short periods."

The valid test of a prophet's authenticity is not popularity and acceptance but whether his prophecies are fulfilled.

Jones was not prophesying, however; he was merely stating a fact that has been proved repeatedly in man's history. The classic example is the decline and fall of the Roman Empire.

The average life of a nation is about 200 years. Rome was so powerful it took it 300 years just to die. That great civilization built roads in use today and walls that still stand.

The iron organization that once held the civilized world in its sway was damaged by natural disasters and external invasion, but it was brought down by internal decay caused by moral degeneracy.

The civilization that has influenced mankind more than any other on record was molded from 2 million illiterate slaves. What was the source of their strength?

Israel was a theocracy, which was eventually rejected. But during the development of that nation they adhered to a moral code so rigid that even disobedience to parents and Sabbath breaking were crimes punishable by death. (That would surely take care of the population explosion, but who would be left to throw the stones?)

Great civilizations are built by those who live to give, and destroyed by those who live to get.

A 34-year-old welfare mother made national headlines with the sordid story of her 13 children by about as many fathers. The peril that drug-addicted family poses the nation is incalculable.

Animal behavior is practiced and promoted by those whose goal in life is to indulge their own appetites. Whether those appetites are for sex or sadism, amusement or affluence, power or pot makes little difference.

Self indulgence breeds violence. And violence produces material destruction, intellectual regimentation, and spiritual and physical poverty.

Our permissive society has gone from condoning animal behavior to encouraging and supporting it. Most TV programs are so full of gutter language they are not fit to enter any family living room.

Last week the first prostitutes convention was held in the sanctuary of Glide Memorial Methodist church in San Francisco. It was reportedly attended by a large crowd of sympathetic spectators, and more reporters than prostitutes.

The main feature of the convention was a panel discussion on the legalization of prostitution. The panel was composed of lawyers and social scientists. The legal counsel for San Francisco's sheriff advocated "decriminalizing" or at least ignoring the "ladies of the evening."

One said "lady" declared: "Most prostitutes are more honest than the average American housewife who sells herself for a marriage license." (She did not define her criterion for honesty.)

The convention was sponsored by a union called Coyote. The name was chosen, their leader said, for the members affinity with the crafty, promiscuous coyotes, and because it stands for "Call Off Your Old Tired Ethics."

Traditional American ethics were dealt another blow on the east coast. Angela Atwood, one of the six gang members who died in a hail of police bullets in Los Angeles, was eulogized by a priest in a funeral service in St. Paul's Roman Catholic church in Prospect Park, N.J.

According to the priest, Mrs. Atwood was a "dear, honest, sincere girl" whom he compared to the Christ who also "died for what He believed in."

The priest said, "You have to enable people to make the changes that must be made. No one knows her motives; we weren't there. But I am sure she was following a Christian vocation." He added that the woman's death was purely an act of "martyrdom."

Great civilizations are built on respect for the dignity and rights of the individual. Jungle behavior will soon take any nation back to the jungle.

Civilization cannot co-exist with the philosophy that bank robbing, kidnapping, and murder are Christian vocations; and that prostitution is superior to the divine institution of marriage.

One philosophy will soon destroy the other. Which will it be for America?

Communication A Necessity

By CARROLL WILSON

Noted semanticist S. I. Hayakawa put his finger on the problem recently when he said the proceedings against President Nixon hinge on the meaning of two phrases — "high crimes and misdemeanors," and "executive privilege."

In his column, Hayakawa wished that if nothing else good comes of the President's peril perhaps those two phrases can be given an accurate definition.

At least one scholarly volume has been written to trace the meaning of impeachment and "high crimes and misdemeanors," but even the scholar presents inconclusive evidence.

Not many years back, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in an obscenity case that a young fellow wearing a shoulder patch on his jacket was protected by the First and Fourteenth Amendments to the Constitution. The shoulder patch bore a short, explicit Anglo-Saxon verb concerning the military draft.

Justice Harlan said the court "cannot forbid particular words without risking suppressing ideas." He added, "One man's vulgarity is another's lyric."

Both the impeachment issue and the Supreme Court ruling point up the fact that language, both written and oral, is very much open to interpretation, to confusion and to non-communication.

Both illustrate, too, a basic problem with an America where verbal chaos reigns.

No one is entirely sure what the President really meant when he spoke of hush money with his closest advisors.

In reality, about the only language an American really understands and really comprehends is that language used to provoke a fight.

"I'm going to punch you in the nose, you dirty _____," is readily understood and it draws quick reaction.

The purpose of language is to communicate — that is, to impart to someone else exactly what is in the speaker's mind. This implies and also demands integrity in the use of words.

Unfortunately, Americans are caught in a down-spiral of communication. Communication no longer communicates. Verbal communication has degenerated to the level of a childish game.

Use of words and phrases to rationalize unethical or immoral actions, to hide from accountability or responsibility is standard.

In essence, a use of language with integrity would make us accountable for our mistakes.

Jargon and euphemism, circumlocution and paraphrase — all the semantical tricks we hide behind — have become standards of language. Accountability is lost and so is truth.

The Watergate taped conversations abound in such fuzzy expressions as "maximizing our incumbency."

Government as a whole is a leading exponent of jargon, which can no longer be called jargon for it has become the standard language.

It's true that Americans did not invent euphemism. We didn't pioneer fuzzy language.

Writers of 17th century France used some startling circumlocution and euphemisms to avoid offense. A drink of water was called an "interior bath." Teeth were referred to as "the furniture of the mouth."

Benjamin Franklin collected as many as 228 euphemisms for "drunk," most of which have become obsolete.

One of the kindest euphemisms on record comes from Japan, if a student fails an exam he receives a telegram from the university office which reads: "The cherry blossoms are falling."

Educators in America could be the worst semantic sinners. In school, the loafer becomes an "underachiever." "Enrichment" is a fuzzy word often rolled on the educator's tongue.

The euphemism, like many verbal tools, is used in many cases to avoid making enemies or hurting or offending the sensitive.

But, the persistent growth of euphemism represents a danger to thought and action since its basic interest is to deceive.

As Benjamin Whorf says, the structure of a language determines, in part, how the society which speaks it views reality. Whorf's theory is illustrated in Gulliver's Travels. The Houynhnms, who are completely rational, use speech only to communicate truth. They have no words in their language for "to lie." They use euphemistic circumlocution "to say the thing which is not."

A few years ago a Time essay concluded by saying that verbal miasma is an offense to reason.

The trend to ambiguity, to euphemism, to deceitful tricks to avoid accountability can lead to verbal anarchy, to be sure. It can also tell us something about America.

The Occult Film Set For Viewing July 14

"The Occult," a new 16mm sound motion picture, will be shown at Calvary Baptist Church next Sunday, July 14, at 7 p.m.

Hal Lindsey, author of two best sellers ("The Great Planet Earth" and "Satan is Alive and Well on Planet Earth") guides viewers to the bizarre world of the Occult declaring it to be not just a passing fad but a vital part of the continuing struggle of Satan to usurp the throne of our eternal God.

Mr. Lindsey declares that in witchcraft, astrology, Ouija boards and other forms of the Occult, people do experience supernatural phenomenon and that from the ruins of Babylon to Main Street USA, people are being drawn by mystical voices that call from darkness.

The purpose of the film is to stir up sentiment against the practice of witchcraft and to expose Satanic power that is its root. The film concludes with a personal explanation of the powers of evil applied to the weakness of man. A young person tells of involvement in ceremonies of witchcraft, demon possession and human sacrifice without feelings of murder or sense of wrong.

Written by Marshall Riggan and produced by the Evangelical Christian Research Foundation, "The Occult" is being released for showings across North America by Gospel Films, Inc., producers of "So Long, Joey!," the story of Dave Boyer, and "Like A Mighty Army," the story of Dr. James Kennedy and the Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church of Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

Jazz-rock Group To Play At WTSU

Chase, jazz-rock group led by the trumpet of Bill Chase, will perform at West Texas State University July 23.

Bill Chase, who has played lead trumpet with the Stan Kenton, Woody Herman and Maynard Ferguson bands, describes his group as "built on the conception of my style of playing. I have a certain way that I play, a certain style I set, and this is what I want to get across."

The concert is scheduled at 8 p.m. in the WTSU fieldhouse.

Chase includes bass, guitar, drums, organ and four trumpets which are sometimes used electronically.

Tickets for the program are $3 for students attending WTSU and the instrumental music camp and $4 for the general public. Tickets are available at the activities center or the music department office in the Fine Arts Building.

Miss WTSU Vies For Miss Texas In Fort Worth

Pretty, dark-haired Sandra Skinner, Miss West Texas State University, will be one of 57 hopeful contestants in the Miss Texas Pageant in Fort Worth today through Saturday.

Miss Skinner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Skinner, 1512 Douglas, Iowa Park, Texas. She is classified as a junior, and is majoring in Spanish.

The contest, to be held in the Tarrant County Convention Center will select the Texas entrant for the Miss America Scholarship Pageant to be held later this year.

The state-wide beauties gather July 7 for a week filled with style shows, luncheons, rehearsals and special events. Eliminations in the three categories — swim suit, talent, and formal evening wear — begins the evening of July 10. The new Miss Texas will be named July 13, at which time the 1973 Miss Texas, Judy Mallett, will end her reign.

The former feature twirler of the WTSU Band, Miss Skinner will perform a lively twirling show for her talent competition. Her use of the longer "Texas" baton adds a special twist.

Miss Skinner's extensive wardrobe was partially supplied through a $1000 scholarship from Hub Clothiers of Amarillo.

Accompanying Miss Skinner as chaperone is Mrs. Thelma Evans of Tulia. Mrs. Evans is president of the WTSU Ex-Students, Inc.

The 57 contestants are vying for a sizeable scholarship, a $3,000 wardrobe and numerous other lesser prizes.

Magazine Story Features WTSU Industrial Class

The West Texas State University industrial technology program was featured in a June edition of the national magazine, Industry Week.

The magazine, published in Cleveland, Ohio, has a circulation of more than 160,000.

"I am delighted that the excellent quality of the WT industrial technology program has received the national recognition it richly merits," WTSU President Lloyd I. Watkins said.

The program, in its fourth year of operation, was created to supply individuals who fill the gap between the theorectical engineer and the practical machine operator.

Antique And Gift Items Sell At Tuck's Gold Mine

By LORENA MILLER

Jerry Williams spends a good portion of his time playing the role of "Tucker Yelldell" in the outdoor summer drama "TEXAS" in Palo Duro Canyon.

Although Williams is not new to the stage, he gives autographs freely to those persons visiting his antique and gift shop in downtown Canyon. The shop sports a summertime sign reading 'Tucker Yelldell's Gold Mine.' Permission for use of Tucker's name has been granted to Williams by the "TEXAS" author, Paul Green, and Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation to be used when the show is open during summer and serves as free advertising for the drama.

"Some folks seem surprised when they come into the shop and find it is really Tuck's place," said Williams, who has owned the business for a period of eleven years. Born and raised in Canyon, Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Williams, who have now retired from their business establishment Canyon Cleaners.

"A number of tourists visit the shop after they have been to see the show," said Williams, "but many just happen by in their vacation travels.

"Canyon has a really great potential if we develop our tourist trade," said Williams. "We have many fine historical sights here that we homefolk just take for granted. When vacationers are travelling they usually allot so much money to see and do the things they want to — so let's have them spend part of it here."

A 1951 graduate of Canyon High School, Williams earned his bachelor's degree in sociology and master's degree in education with emphasis on speech pathology at West Texas State University. He did post graduate studies in speech pathology at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. He later taught on a part-time basis at WTSU for six years in speech pathology and supervised students during their internship in that field.

He is a member of the board of directors for the Canyon Chamber of Commerce, serves on the administrative board of the First United Methodist Church and is a member of the Appraisers Association of America.

"I first went into the antique business at home under the carport," laughs Williams. "Then moved into the house until my life was threatened by mom for having the house filled with collected antiques."

Later he opened his business in a location on Fourth Avenue where West Texas State Bank later built. The business was also located next door to the Methodist Church before moving to the present location downtown about four years ago.

From his original interest in antiques, Williams has expanded his business to include various gift and novelty items including the "Cacharros" clay pottery which is made at the shop on a potter's wheel.

"Cacharros" (meaning crude pot) is the trade name of the original pots made by Williams and two artists who do their turn at the wheel. The pots are formed on the potter's wheel, decorated and kiln fired in the back shop area. In addition to retail sales made through the local store, the "Cacharros" pots are also sold to nursery and florist businesses for potting purposes.

Aside from his own business interests, Williams has been active in theatre since he was fifteen beginning in summer theatre with Mr. and Mrs. William A. Moore, who are now summer directors for the outdoor musical drama.

Williams has been an active supporter of the "TEXAS" drama since it first came to life nine years ago.

"I was the understudy for Tucker Yelldell the second season of "TEXAS" and came into the role for three onstage performances that year," stated Williams. "I was cast in the role on my own the third summer — and have played Tucker since that time.

"Tucker is a person who dearly loves life, no matter what the hardship," says Williams. "He makes a point to find something good about his life even though he is faced with many trials and hardships in the settling of this country.

"Even though his appearance onstage seems ragged — Tucker gets out his best duds (the cutaway coat) for his good time at Uncle Henry's party and during the final scene," stated Williams.

As Williams takes time out from his routine business day to sign autographs, he recalls that Tucker Yelldell's motto seems to be "spreading happiness" and his autographs bring happiness to young and old when they recall their summer visit at "TEXAS."

Doug Snider is working as a Biological aid at the Buffalo Wildlife Refuge. He is a wildlife biology and fisheries major at Kansas State. He is also a member of the basketball team at Kansas State. This is his first experience in this type work.

Opinion Survey To Be Conducted

A survey of public opinion concerning the Canyon Independent School System will be conducted here beginning Monday, July 8 and running through Thursday, July 11. On Thursday night, a complete report will be made on the finding of the research team at a meeting of school administrators, school board members and interested residents of the school district.

At the Thursday night meeting, held at the Canyon Junior High School cafeteria at 8 p.m., a written report will be submitted by the research team from the University of Texas.

The research team, composed of graduate level students in the field of school administration, will be directed by Dr. Ken McIntyre and Dr. Carl Ashbaugh. The twenty students will be surveying a wide range of residents in the school district. All areas of the school district will be covered.

Questions used in the survey were compiled by the research directors in cooperation with the local school administration.

School administrators feel that the survey will be a good way for them to get a true picture of the opinion of district residents concerning the efficiency of the local system.

There are a total of 30 questions that the research team will be using to glean the opinion of local residents.

Discover Texas Exhibit Has Outdoor Drama

"TEXAS" musical drama will be among featured exhibits in the "Slow Down — Discover Texas" to be presented on the mall by the merchants of Western Plaza Shopping Center, I-40 at Western, Amarillo.

The exhibit which is in promotion of the state's top tourist attractions will be displayed July 10-22. Also included from this area will be the Panhandle Playground in Amarillo.

Displays covering all areas of Texas from attraction packed Arlington to Corpus Christi, Austin to San Antonio and the Rio Grande Valley to the Panhandle are included.

"Slow Down — Discover Texas" is educational as well as entertaining. Learn about Texas' famous resorts, historic sites and exhibits, and family entertainment attractions, all waiting when you discover Texas.

Jim Battersby, Discover Texas Association executive vice-president, is originator of the unique idea. Battersby and a staff of assistants accompany the exhibit.

Local and area school children will benefit especially by Discover Texas because Texas history and heritage are presented in a colorful way.

Constitution Seminar Topic For 2nd Term

The United States Constitution and the proposed new Texas Constitution will be the subjects of a seminar for teachers and other interested citizens at West Texas State University during the second summer session.

The class will meet from July 16 to Aug. 9, consisting of 30 clock hours of lectures and discussions. It will be held in the morning or afternoon, depending on student preference.

Dr. Roy E. Thoman, associate professor of political science at WTSU, will direct the seminar, which is being sponsored by the Texas Educational Association.

"Although this is a noncredit seminar, each teacher-participant will be awarded a certificate indicating successful completion as evidence of professional interest and growth," Dr. Thoman said.

The school districts of Amarillo, Canyon, Diocese of Amarillo, Memphis, and Pampa "have agreed to grant two hours of recency of training credit to their staff members who satisfactorily complete the seminar," he said.

Topics of the seminar will include events leading to the Federal Convention of 1787, the philosophy of the Constitution, the evolution of constitutional law and the role of the President in the area of foreign relations. Special emphasis will be given to such topics of current interest as the proposed new Texas Constitution, and the impeachment process under the Federal Constitution.

The seminar is open to all interested citizens, teachers as well as nonteachers, and is free of any tuition or fees. Applications may be obtained by writing Dr. Thoman, P.O. Box 725, WTSU, Canyon, Texas 79016.

Canyon Swimmers Gain 21 Firsts In Meet

Canyon swimmers, members of the West Texas Swim Team, compiled 21 first places, 11 second places, 6 third places, 9 fourth places and one fifth place in a dual meet with the Amarillo Aquatic Club Shark Team July 2.

Though no team scores were kept, Bruce Bove, coach for the local team, stated that the Canyon swimmers did very well. According to Bove all swimmers bettered their times in each race.

Evangelistic Revival July 10-21

Evangelist B.J. Smith of Greenville, Tex. will be speaking at nightly revival services July 10-21 at the First Assembly of God Church in Canyon.

Services will be at 7:30 p.m. each evening and visitors have been welcomed by Rev. A.J. Pettit, pastor of the church.

Special musical programs will be a nightly feature of the revival. Joyce Smith, wife of the evangelist, will present special singing with accompaniment by Rev. Smith and son, Mike. She has a newly released long play album.

Sunday services will be at 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. during the revival. The public is invited.

Workshops Set At University

Concert and marching band workshops are scheduled at West Texas State University this month.

Dr. Ralph Laycock of Brigham Young University will direct the Concert Band Workshop July 15-25. The class, designed for junior and senior high school band directors, is held in conjunction with the West Texas Instrumental Music Camp.

The music camp brings over 1100 junior and senior high school students to the WTSU campus for a 13-day session of intensive instruction.

The Concert Band Workshop will emphasize problems relating to the development of superior concert bands.

Barrie Cox Joins Staff At Church

Barrie Cox recently joined the youth ministry of the Broadway Church of Christ in Lubbock on a full time basis.

Cox is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Cox of Canyon. He had been working part-time with the church since February and will continue working with the church while completing his master's degree in art at Texas Tech University.

He was counselor at Camp Blue Haven for four years working with church youth and has been active in the teaching program of the church and frequent song leader in their youth activities.

TEXAS Triangles

At the close of the fireworks performance of "Texas" on Thursday evening, July 4, a total of 19,851 persons had seen the outdoor musical drama which is presented nightly except Sundays in the Pioneer Amphitheatre at Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

This week's "triangle" winners have been from Indonesia, France, Iran, Thailand, Hong Kong and Germany. The "triangle" is given each night at performance intermission time.

On June 28 a total of 1,475 were seated in the audience as Ken and Leona Trontman of Indonesia received the "triangle." Groups attending that evening were a travel group from Houston, and the WT Choral Camp.

Vero Pry of Paris, France was the recipient of the "triangle" on June 29 as 1,737 saw the outdoor drama. Special groups that evening were tour groups from Dallas, Lake Charles, Louisiana and Arkansas as well as representatives from the Visual Aids conference.

Hasmik Malakian of Iran was the July 1 recipient of the "triangle" before an audience of 1,347.

On July 2 the triangle went to Boonthai Ellison of Thailand. The audience count that evening was 1,277 including special guests from a 4-H group, a church group from Hughes Spring and a feature writer from the Dallas Morning News.

Pong Chan of Hong Kong was the winner of the July 3 "triangle." Audience count was 1,597 at that performance as the special guests at the evening performance were a group from the Methodist Camp and a television commentator and camera crew from WFAA in Dallas.

The audience numbered 1,550 in attendance on Independence Day evening, July 4, when Mr. and Mrs. G. Pirn of Germany received the "triangle." Special groups in attendance were tour groups from an Amarillo church, one from Stillwater, Okla., various members of the Cowboy Artists Association and Elders of the Church of Latter Day Saints.

Alvin Moudys At Marlin For Art League

Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Moudy returned from Marlin, Tex. recently at the conclusion of an art exhibit and demonstration which she presented for the Marlin Art League.

Sixty paintings by Mrs. Moudy were placed on display for the league and she gave an acrylic demonstration for approximately 40 league members and guests.

A native of Tullahoma, Tenn., Mrs. Moudy has lived in the Texas Panhandle since her marriage to Alvin Moudy in 1950. She has studied art under Elizabeth Mason in Searcy, Ark.; Olive Van Pelt in Austin; Dr. Emilio Caballero, Dr. Robert Hobbs, Claude Salley, Claudia Neelley and Jerri Warren of Canyon while working toward a degree in art at West Texas State University.

Her paintings have been exhibited in many places including the Elizabeth Ney Museum in Austin, the Six State Art Exhibit held in Amarillo, and Wayland Baptist College in Plainview.

The Methodist Student Center will be the site for a family dinner for Pathfinders and Inquirers Classes of the First United Methodist Church today at 6 p.m. Members are urged to provide food for their own families. Bread and drinks will be furnished and a nursery is planned at the church.

"A Religion that Faces Fact" will be the title for the Sunday morning worship at the First Presbyterian Church of Canyon. Services begin at 10 a.m. Text will be Galatians 6:7.

Majority Of Canyon Golfers Below 50 Years Of Age According To Local Golf Pros

Golfers in Canyon range in age from 5 to 85 with the majority being below 50 years of age according to the two local golf pros. Dale Newman is the golf pro at Hunsley Hills and Dude Kincade is the pro at Canyon Country Club.

Golf is a popular sport among young and old, men and women in Canyon. According to the local golf pros, many young people are taking an interest in the game and are attending classes that teach the fundamentals of the sport.

Newman has been in Canyon for the past three years which makes him the "senior" pro. Newman has been a pro for the last 18 years. Newman said that on an average day there are about 30 Canyon golfers on the course at Hunsley Hills. This does not count the 20 WTSU golf students who also use the course. On the week ends and holidays, Hunsley Hills has approximately 75 golfers paying green fees.

Kincade, who has been in Canyon for the past two years and a pro since 1957, said that approximately 150 rounds are played on the nine hole Canyon Club course on a week end and 50 to 60 people play on an average weekday.

The Canyon Country Club course has been in existence since 1920. Hunsley Hills has been in operation for 15 years. Hunsley Hills which started out as a nine hole course is now an 18 hole course.

Even though the Canyon Club course is nine holes, Kincade said that there is always a good turnout for tournaments held there. Kincade said that there are two sets of tees for each hole that enable the hole to be played differently.

Newman described the Hunsley course as a real challenge. He stated, "If a golfer can play here, he can play almost anywhere."

Newman stated a few women do play the Hunsley course but most are discouraged by the water in the creek that runs through the course. He said they lose too many balls and are frustrated by it. He said that presently there are more junior golfers than ladies enrolled in the free classes he has offered.

Newman feels that interest in golf has increased because of the television coverage given pro tournaments.

Newman stated that one can usually tell a more experienced golfer from the novice golfer. Though the way the player is dressed does not tell on him, the expressions he uses to describe the game stand out.

Most novice golfers do not know what club to use for a particular shot. Most golfers attempt to develop their style by the trial and error method. But according to Newman it takes a good golfer to know right from wrong.

Golf as a game can become an expensive pastime. A golfer can spend from $150 to $500 to own his equipment. The pros feel that an established namebrand club is the best for the player to own.

Presently, a golf association is being formed at Hunsley Hills Golf Course to assist Newman in planning and conducting tournaments.

"Involve Our Women" Says New Jr. District Director

By LORENA MILLER

Harriet Brandon of Canyon was elected at the Top of Texas District Convention this spring as the 1974-75 district junior director and sees "changes in store for federated clubs throughout the state and nation" after becoming acquainted with the new state president of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs in recent workshops and conventions.

Mrs. Brandon, the wife of Larry Brandon and mother of three year old Tracy, has given much of her time to community improvement and the betterment of all phases of life through her involvement with various aspects of clubwork.

Beginning her duties as district junior director she was installing officer for the newly formed junior club at Panhandle known as "The Antigone" which was only given its federation certification at the spring state convention.

"At the state TFWC meetings and planning sessions we were given the overall outline of projects and activities for the next two years," said Mrs. Brandon. "Community improvement is a vital aspect of clubwork but we will see a broader scope in state and national activities under the leadership of the new state president, Harriet Whatley of Fairfield," said Mrs. Brandon.

"The big concentration will be on the women's role in eliminating apathy at the election polls," states Mrs. Brandon. Although federated clubwork is bipartisan, we will be placing emphasis on having all eligible voters to "get out and vote, inform themselves of their candidates, and simply care what goes on all around us," relates Mrs. Brandon.

Another project, "Time To Speak Up," is being co-sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and Western Union where calls may be placed to legislators more economically and thus get the grassroots opinions to the officials, according to Mrs. Brandon.

A graduate of Lubbock Schools and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Huff of Lubbock, Mrs. Brandon attended Sullins College in Bristol, Virginia; University of Houston; Texas Technological University; and earned the BA degree at West Texas State University in 1963.

Her husband, Larry, also earned his degree at West Texas State in 1963 and then while he took his law degree at Baylor, she taught for three years in the Waco School System. They returned to Canyon to make their home in 1967. He was employed as the assistant city attorney in Amarillo for a two year period before going into private practice with law partners in the Perdue, Brandon and Blair Law Offices in Amarillo.

Mrs. Brandon became involved in federated clubwork in 1969 when the Heritage Woman's Club here was chartered. She has served that group as secretary, treasurer, yearbook chairman and was president last year.

Among her accomplishments, she has been listed in the Outstanding Young Women of America volume in 1970 and was Outstanding Junior Clubwoman for the Top of Texas District, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, in 1972-73.

In addition, she was instrumental in the organization of Canyon's Junior Forum service group and served as its president during the first year. She has served the Canyon division of the Opportunity Plan at the board level and was responsible for re-activating the Alpha Delta Pi Alumnae chapter here. She was the first president of the sorority alumnae chapter when it was re-activated and is currently the state corresponding secretary of the Texas Alumnae Association, served five years as chapter advisor to the local unit at West Texas State University and is the area scholarship advisor to the four collegiate chapters in this area including WTSU, Texas Tech, Texas A&I at Kingsville and Southwestern State University at San Marcos.

As TFWC district junior director, Mrs. Brandon recently conducted a workshop involving seven junior clubs of the district where she gave about 30 representative women the latest requirements on yearbooks, and discussed departmental emphasis in federation departments including conservation, public affairs, Texas Heritage, arts, homelife, international affairs and education.

The workshop was designed to help area women make their plans for the coming club year. Her own plans for the coming club year as district junior director include visitation with each of the district junior clubs including two at Perryton, two in Canyon, and one each in Dalhart, Panhandle and Stratford.

She will also attend the TFWC Fall Board meetings in Austin in late September, District Fall Board meetings in October where she will be in charge of junior workshops relating to submitting departmental reports, and then next spring will be attending the Top of Texas District convention in Amarillo during early April to be followed by the state convention in late April at Houston.

She will also work in the Heritage Woman's Club of Canyon as a member in helping with their major project which has been aid to Neblett Clinic in securing funds for improved technical equipment. She is also reporter-historian of the club.

"Each junior club has the opportunity to select their own local project but in general the national junior club project for the coming term will be in the field of learning disabilities," she said. Junior clubs will also help on the Lola B. Mundy Scholarship, which is a district project helping the Opportunity Plan at West Texas State University.

State clubwomen will be concerned with service beneficial to Girlstown USA, those servicemen Missing in Action, and funds and projects which help to finance the state federated clubhouse in addition to a variety of scholarships for outstanding students in need of assistance for further education.

A new TFWC project for the coming year is the "possibility of junior or other federated clubs bringing a circus to town with a portion of the proceeds to be applied to state projects," stated Mrs. Brandon, further relating that the circus discussed would include a variety of trained animals (rather than elephants and large species) and would be available for staging in small area towns in their local school gymnasiums.

"Federated club projects and studies are designed to cover all phases of life that a woman should be informed in — it is not for social gatherings — and each year we like to look back and see where our efforts have helped in some area of life," she concluded.

Mrs. Jim Hogue,
nee Mary Sue Neff

Yearbooks Important

Fall yearbooks for all clubwomen's groups in Canyon are requested to be furnished to The Canyon News social desk at the earliest convenience of the clubs.

The yearbooks are a vital link in current happenings on the club scene and if your club is not printing a yearbook, it would be to your advantage to furnish a typed list showing dates of meetings and where to be held each month for listing in the monthly activity calendar.

Priscilla Club Does Needlework

Mrs. Tom Brasher was hostess to the Priscilla Needle Club on Wednesday, July 3, as members worked on various forms of needlework during the afternoon.

Summer roses were used for decorating the room and a dessert course with coffee and tea were served to those present including Mesdames A.M. Cunningham, T.H. Knighton, D.M. Foster, A.K. Goodman, Paul Summers, Ed Weeks, T.S. Stevenson, Sr., W.F. Haggard, Kelly McGehee and J.M. Daugherty.

Double Ring Marriage Vows Unite Miss Walker-Warren

Double ring marriage rites for Jan Merita Walker and Richard Bryce Warren were solemnized in ceremonies Friday evening, July 5, in the chapel room of the First Baptist Church of Amarillo with Dr. Winfred Moore officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R.E. Walker, 2613 Mockingbird Lane, Amarillo. She earned the associate degree in physical education at West Texas State University and is active in the Coronado Equestrian Club.

A 1969 graduate of Canyon High School, the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Warren, 2421 8th Avenue, Canyon. He earned his degree at West Texas State University in 1973 where he was a member of Alpha Chi honorary fraternity and Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity.

Floral arrangements with fern greenery decorated the sanctuary where marriage vows were solemnized. David Fine played appropriate piano and organ selections for the ceremony.

Mrs. C.T. Caballero of Sumter, Ga., served as the matron of honor and Mrs. Ronald E. Walker, Jr., sister-in-law of the bride, served as bridesmatron. They wore jersey apple green dresses with green silk flowers for their headwear. Each carried gold daisies in the ceremony.

Best man was John Warren of Houston, brother of the bridegroom. Mark Raillard of Dallas served as groomsman. Ushering was Ronald E. Walker, Jr., a brother of the bride.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a satin eggshell tone wedding dress featuring full length sleeves and softly flowing full length skirt. The wedding gown was fashioned by the bride's mother and had a sheer lace cape collar edged with eggshell lace which was complemented with a sprinkling of pearls. Matching sheer lace was featured at the waistline with pearl highlights. The sleeves of the wedding gown and the waistline were both finished with large lace daisies centered with pearls.

Her sheer yellow wedding veil was caught to the back of her wedding hat which was made of matching eggshell satin. The front crown was overlaid with sheer lace featuring accent lines of pearls and complemented with matching lace daisies featuring pearl centers.

She carried a cascading bouquet of white roses amid pom pom mums and baby's breath. Her other accessories included a gift necklace from the bridegroom which had a gold heart with a single pearl center.

The parlor of the First Baptist Church of Amarillo was the setting for the wedding reception. A gold tablecloth covered the refreshment table which was centered with a gold daisy arrangement. Serving in the reception houseparty were Mrs. John Warren of Houston, Mary Cliver and Becky Drummond.

Marriage Vows Pledged In Faith Chapel

Faith Chapel was the setting for a double ring marriage ceremony read Saturday evening, July 6, by Rev. Marcus Adair which united Miss Mary Sue Neff and Bob Hogue in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Neff of McAllen and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hogue of Sundown, Texas.

Organist, Ora Lee Robbins, accompanied as Bill and Billy Penn sang All Our Lives with Larry Rice vocalist for The Twelfth of Never and The Wedding Song. A duet arrangement of I Pledge My Love was sung by Larry and Sharon Rice. Guitar accompaniment was by John Childress and Skip Skinner.

An arch candelabra with arrangements of greenery, accenting bow and blue candles, was set under a cross. On the sides were spiral candelabrum with greenery and blue candles. Floral accents were daisies used for corsages and boutonnieres. Three candles were arranged which the bride and bridegroom used for the unison candle ceremony.

Trisha Neff served as maid of honor with the bridesmaids being Lana Myers, Donna Driggers, Lynn Preston and Mrs. Jim Jeffers, bridesmatron.

The bridal attendants wore sleeveless empire bodiced dresses with insets of white eyelet in the white organza cloth which was printed with flowers in spring colors. They wore white picture hats trimmed in blue and carried bouquets of daisies with baby's breath intermingled.

Mike Westbrook was best man. Groomsmen were Teddie Giddens, Robert Edwards, Randall Haggard, and John Childress. The groomsmen wore blue windsor jackets trimmed in navy. Ushering were Clyde Neff, brother of the bride, and Tim Hogue, brother of the bridegroom.

Escorted and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white organza over silk mist taffeta. The empire bodice was accented with lace and satin ribbon. Her softly gathered skirt was swept into a full back accented with an organza bow and long streamers. The square neckline of the wedding gown had a continued square back neck interest which complemented the summer effect of the sleeveless wedding gown.

Her chapel length wedding veil was edged with lace and held to a Camelot coif of lace petals and pearls. She wore an heirloom bracelet belonging to her grandmother.

A reception was held in the Bible Education Building after the wedding ceremony and was hostessed by Mrs. Marcus Adair. The lace tablecloth was arranged over yellow and centered with a flower arrangement of daisies and yellow roses. Yellow tapers accented the bride's table and the bridegroom's table was laid with a green cloth and centered with a yellow and green floral centerpiece. Chocolate cake in the shape of two rings was served from the bridegroom's table.

Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. Steve Land, Miss Cheryl Cole, Mrs. Gail Ledbetter and Miss Sherry Waterbury. Presiding at the groom's cake were his sisters, Miss Suzanne and Shanna Hogue. Guests were registered by Miss Trudy Davis.

A summer suit of green and white checked dotted swiss with complementing white collar was worn by the bride as the couple departed on a week's trip to Ruidosa, N.M. and other mountain points. Her corsage was a yellow daisy and rose arrangement.

The couple will establish their home at 2600 2nd Avenue in Canyon after July 14.

A former student of Hereford High School, the bride will receive her degree in physical education from West Texas State University in August.

The bridegroom graduated from high school in Sundown, Tex. and has attended Texas Tech University for two years prior to beginning church work. He will be campus minister for the Bible Education Building at West Texas State University after early August.

Miss Jones-Brown Plan August Vows

Miss Sheryl Lynn Jones and Gene Ray Brown are planning wedding ceremonies to be read August 3 at Polk Street Methodist Chapel in Amarillo.

Miss Jones is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lee Jones of Amarillo. She graduated from Amarillo High School in 1973 and presently attends Amarillo College where she is co-captain of the Badger Belles.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Brown of Umbarger. He graduated from Canyon High School this spring and plans to enroll at Texas State Technical Institute this fall.

Local Couple To Fort Worth

Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Garner have recently moved to Fort Worth, Tex. where he will be employed with Harris Hospital in the intensive care unit awaiting admittance to the School of Anesthesia class.

Garner is the son of Mrs. Tom Garner of Canyon and earned degrees in both biology and nursing while attending West Texas State University. His wife, the former Beth Carey of Odessa, earned both the B.S. and Master's degree in business educa-

Cheryl Sykes Marries In Colorado

Miss Cheryl Annette Sykes and Marvin W. Garrison were united in marriage Saturday, June 1, at 7 p.m. in double ring ceremonies read at College Heights Baptist Church in Alamosa, Colo.

Rev. Harrison Johns read the marriage nuptials for the couple. Miss Sykes is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy G. Bible of Alamosa, Colo., formerly of Canyon. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Garrison, also of Alamosa.

For her wedding, the bride selected a floor length dress of ivory polyester and carried a nosegay of Dutch iris and daisies.

Miss Pam Fraser of Alamosa was the maid of honor. She wore a blue and white checked floor length dress and carried a single long stemmed blue carnation.

Aaron Holcomb of Alamosa was the best man.

A family dinner honoring the couple was held June 23 at the home of the bride's parents with guests including Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Garrison, Pam and Wendall of Alamosa; Mr. and Mrs. Randy Garrison of Canon City, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bickness and Jason of Walsh, Colo.; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cummins and April of Amarillo, and Martha Sykes of Boise, Idaho.

Following a wedding trip to South Fork, Colo., the couple has established their home at Alamosa.

The bride attended Canyon Public Schools for eight years and is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Hammond and Mrs. Jim Bible, all of Canyon. She is presently a senior student at Alamosa High School. The bridegroom is also a senior student at Alamosa High School and is employed in ranching operations near Alamosa.

Society includes all reports of wedding from the engagement announcement through showers, teas, and other honors for the couple with a final report of the marriage.
Social deadline is Thursday noon.

St. Anthony's Church Site Of Marriage

St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Hereford was the setting for the July 6 late afternoon marriage of Miss Rita Esther Meyer and Melvin Joe Burges with Father Aedan Davis officiating at the double ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent J. Meyer of Umbarger and has taught schools in Kansas City, Kan. prior to her present employment with Hereford School District as a teacher at LaPlata Junior High School.

Burges is the son of Mrs. Willie Burges, north of Hereford, and is presently farming north of Hereford where the couple will make their home.

Organ music by Sharon Cramer accompanied the solo vocal arrangements of Our Father and More by Larry Kuper.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length white dress trimmed with white lace and a light blue velvet ribbon. A white rose with streamers was worn in her hair and she carried a bouquet of blue and white carnations with white bow and streamers. Her only jewelry was a single strand white pearl necklace.

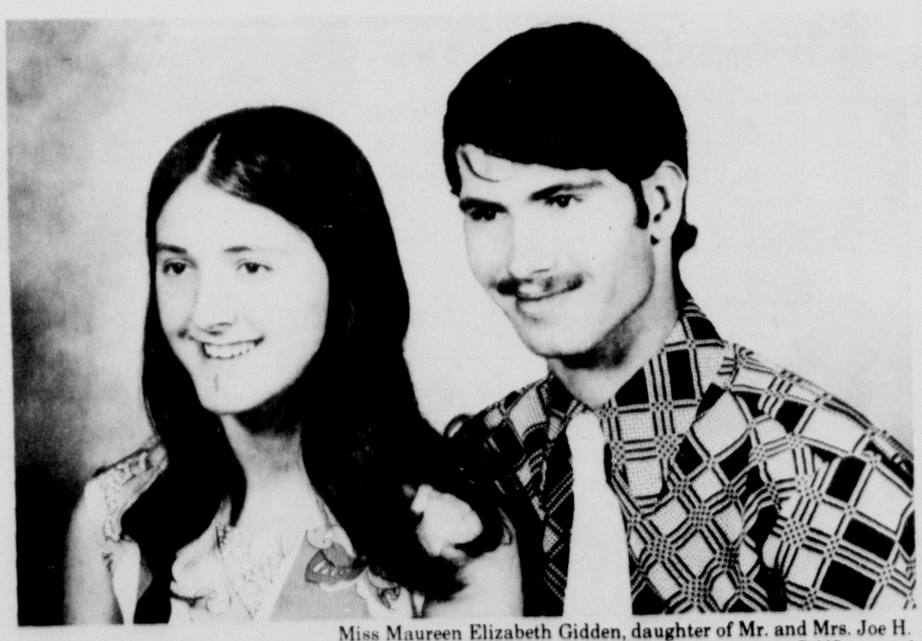
The bride's sister, Mrs. Mildred Wieck was matron of honor and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Gladys Meyer, was the bridesmatron. They both wore light blue street length dresses with blue roses and streamers in their hair. Each carried a single white long stemmed carnation with accenting blue bow and streamers. Their dresses were designed to match the bridal dress and the attendants wore white pearl necklaces.

Bobby Byers served as best man and Bob Hicks was groomsman. Sharing ushering duties were Albert and Richard Meyer.

A dinner at the Civic Club Center in Hereford was held for close friends and relatives of the couple after the wedding. The bride's niece, Donna Meyer, presided at the guest registry for the occasion.

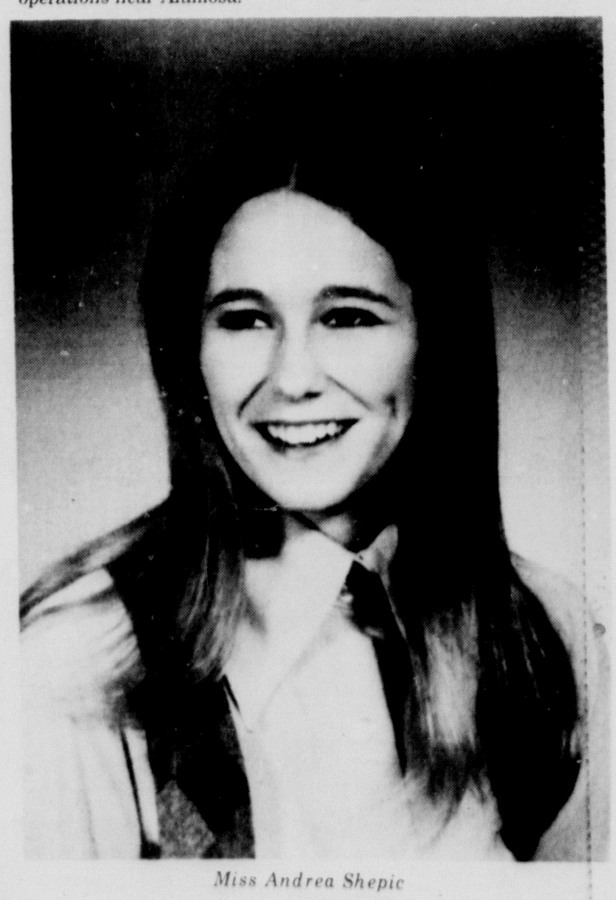
For a brief wedding trip, the bride changed to a travel pantsuit of red, white and blue plaid seersucker.

Mrs. Melvin Joe Burges,
nee Rita Esther Meyer



Miss Maureen Elizabeth Gidden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe H. Gidden of Canyon, and Airman First Class Justin Ross Griffin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Griffin, Canyon, are making plans for a wedding ceremony to be read September 21, 1974 at St. Ann's Catholic Church here. The bride-elect is a 1974 graduate of Canyon High School and is presently employed at the Village Drive Inn while continuing her education at West Texas State University. Prior to joining the Air Force, Griffin graduated from Canyon High School in 1972.

Planning Vows



Miss Andrea Shepic

Miss Shepic-Bayless Plan August Nuptials

The engagement and forthcoming marriage of Miss Andrea Shepic and Alfred Bayless is being announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Shepic of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. E.V. Bayless of Pryor, Okla., formerly of Canyon, are parents of the prospective bridegroom.

Wedding vows are being planned for August 10.

Miss Shepic, a graduate of Canyon High School, is a winter candidate for the BS degree at West Texas State University where she is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority.

The prospective bridegroom graduated from Canyon High School, attended WTSU and is presently employed in farming near Gruver.

Basketball Camp Set For Girls

Because of a demand by the area communities the Golden Spread Basketball Camp will have a girls' camp to be held the week of July 22-26 at the Davy Crockett Junior High School at 4720 Floyd in Amarillo.

The camp will have two outstanding girls' coaches in Bob Schneider of Canyon and Jim Kirkland of Claude. In addition, West Texas State University basketball coaches J.D. Barnett and Rick Starzecki will also be involved with the instruction.

All girls between the ages of 8-15 are eligible to attend the camp which runs from 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. each day.

Anyone interested in the camp is asked to write the Golden Spread Basketball Camp, P.O. 792, Canyon, Texas.

Museum Conducting Digs At Quitaque

Excavation of a Folsom kill site approximately 8-9,000 years old is presently being conducted by the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum at Lake Theo near Quitaque.

"What they are finding is a layer of bison bone in which they have found several Folsom points, which are spear tips made of flint," says Dr. James Hanson, Museum Director. "It is a unique style of spear point with a long flute on either side running 1-3 inches long. It is believed to be the second oldest spear point type found in North America.

"The point style is named after Folsom, New Mexico," Hanson continued, "where they found the first specimen of this type spear. There they were located with mammoth bone, so it dates back to the mammoth hunters."

Hanson expects the digging to continue until September or October, "but we won't be finished with it until next year.

"Just to dig up the artifacts to have them is not the purpose of archeology," Hanson noted. "We're trying to reconstruct the past."

The museum director described the site as especially interesting due to the charred bison bone which allows a more accurate estimate of age than the raw bone.

The team, led by anthropology curator Bill Harrison, has found one Folsom point in the excavations, in addition to the "seven or eight surface finds which drew them to the site."

Hanson hopes that the museum will be able to "dig at least one major site a year."

Sideline Views

By JIM ROGERS

Head coach for WTSU football, Gene Mayfield, is presently looking at three men for the vacancy left on the coaching staff when Jim Campbell was moved to the athletic business manager position. Mayfield said that two of those he was eyeing were presently coaching college ball. The third man is not coaching at the present time.

Of the two who are coaching, neither of which is at a Missouri Valley Conference school, one is coaching at a small four year college and the other is coaching at a large school. Both are located in this part of the country.

It will be hard for WTSU to sell season tickets since the two win, nine loss 1973 season and the pre-1974 season pick to finish sixth in the MVC. Mayfield said that they will not try to give the fans any false information on the coming season but will impress on them the fact that this is the only place college football may be found in the Panhandle area.

Tommy Bryant, sports information director for WTSU, said that WTSU coaches and players will be going to various Panhandle towns to sell tickets.

According to Ron Mills, football coach for Canyon High School, the key to the success of the 1974 season will be the ability that is developed at the offensive and defensive end position. No starters will be returning for this season.

There will be several competing for the position.

Eric Van Pelt, a six foot 3 inch, 170-pound junior, will be seeking the starting nod. Van Pelt started for the junior varsity at the end position. In the 40-yard dash, he has a time of 5.1 seconds.

Hoss Ratliff, a six foot two inch, 155-pound junior and Greg Taylor, six feet one inch, 155-pounder, will also aid at this position.

According to Mills, the fastest of the competitors for the end position is Don Thompson, a five foot 11 inch, 155-pound junior. He runs the 40 in 4.8 seconds.

Sophomore Jonathan Hull may also have a chance. He is an exceptionally tough youngster according to Mills. He stands six feet tall and weighs 170 pounds.

When the goal line offense is used, Andy Grimes and Steve McCormick will probably see action. Lyndon Brazille will also be used as a split end.

Babe Ruth All-Stars Picked At End Of Season

At the close of the Babe Ruth regular season play, the Babe Ruth All-Stars prepare for competition in the Top 'O Texas District tournament to be held in Follett, July 8-15.

The regular season play gave the Pirates, coached by A. J. Luquette, the winning edge as they placed first in the league. The final standings show Pirates first with 12 wins and 5 losses, Giants second with 9 wins and 8 losses, White Sox third with 7 wins and 10 losses and the Cardinals fourth with 6 wins and 11 losses.

Leading hitters for the league this year were Joe Luquette of the Pirates with a .421 average, Ricky Cooper of the Giants with a .421 average, James Walling of the Cardinals with a .379 average, Randy Langen of the Giants with a .367 average, Jonathan Hull of the White Sox with a .365 average, Matt Madewell of the Pirates with a .353 average and Greg Pitt of the Giants with a .300 average.

Those chosen for the All-Star team include Cooper of the Giants, Langen of the Giants, Hull of the White Sox, Walling of the Cardinals, Luquette of the Pirates, Madewell of the Pirates, Mike Flynn of the Cardinals, Tracy Martin of the Pirates, Greg Pitt of the Giants, Alan Rozell of the Giants, Ken Welch of the White Sox, Ches Bostich of the Cardinals, Mark Lawrance of the White Sox, Doug Palmer of the Pirates and David Camfield of the Cardinals.

The Canyon Babe Ruth All-Stars will play Monday, July 8 in Follett against Dumas at 4 p.m. This will be the first game of the district tourney.

American Legion Baseball Tourney Set For Canyon

American Legion District baseball tournament will be held in Canyon July 24-27. There will be two games played on July 24 and on July 25 during the double elimination tourney. The probability of the Canyon American Legion team being in the tournament is good since Canyon leads the south zone of the district with a nine win, no loss record.

The tournament will be sponsored by Canyon's American Legion Palo Duro Post 97. Judge Woody Pond is the post commander. Tom Lair, manager for the Canyon team, will be tournament coordinator. Chairman of the District American Legion baseball is Cliff Roberts, Justice of the Peace of Potter County.

Four teams will be involved in the tournament. At the present time, teams eligible for the tournament are Caprock, Tascosa, Dumas and Canyon. The winner of the tournament will advance to the state American Legion tournament that will be held in Plainview later this summer.

The local American Legion post will be responsible for supplying baseballs, officials and trophies.

Members of the summer youth work corps will be grounds keepers for the tournament.

The Canyon team has won its last seven games going into Saturday night's game against Caprock in Amarillo. The team has lost only two games this season. The first loss went to Palo Duro and the second to Plainview. They will not meet either team again in regular season play. It is possible that they will meet Plainview again during the state tournament.

Lair encourages all Canyon fans to be on hand this afternoon at 4 p.m. at Babe Ruth field when the Canyon team will play Borger.

Little League All-Stars Prepare For Tourney

Canyon Little League All-Stars will be playing Pampa in their first game of district play. The district games will be played in Pampa July 15-17. Canyon will play at 6 p.m. July 15.

According to coach Sturdy Wanamaker, the Canyon team looks pretty good following their first four days of work-outs. Wanamaker said that the team stood a chance at winning the tournament but that it would be according to the pitching of the opposing team.

Pitchers toeing the mound for Canyon will be Ken Walling, Kenny Cates, Blaine White, and Robert Johnson.
